

The Passaic County Bar Association Presents

“The New Jersey Intensive Supervision Program- Helping People Reclaim Their Lives”

Have you ever wondered how the Judiciary’s Intensive Supervision Program (ISP) works? ISP is a program that allows certain carefully selected non-violent offenders to serve the remainder of their state prison sentence in the community under intensive community supervision. Since 1983, more than 10,170 participants have successfully completed the program. Join our distinguished panelists for a lively conversation about the program, including its history, how the program works, its newest initiatives, and its commitment to Enhanced Outcome Based Supervision.
